HISTORY OF ST. BRUNO CATHOLIC CHURCH OF PINCKNEYVILLE

St. Bruno Parish in Pinckneyville is celebrating its 125th anniversary during 1996-97 with special events throughout the year. It began on October 26, 1996 with the Feast of St. Bruno and concluded with a Mass of Thanksgiving concelebrated by the Most Reverend Wilton Gregory, Bishop of Belleville and the Reverend John L. Venegoni, pastor of St. Bruno Church on October 5, 1997. There have also been pulpit exchanges with former pastors and native sons of the parish, allowing many remembrances with the present congregation.

Before the year 1871, St. Bruno Parish was a mission to Du Quoin which was administered by Reverend Charles Klocke. The earliest settlers of this parish were mostly immigrants from Bavaria and Baden, Germany. Some of the names were Sebastian Epplin, George Bischof, Erhart Mader, John Rosenberger, Charles Guemalley, John Lunnemann, Michael Eichholz, Matthew Schneider, Joseph Schwetzler, Joseph Schilling, John Miller, John Kellerman, John Bommersheim, Fred Mentel, Dr. Reilley and Hugh Boyle.

Reverend Klocke was pastor of the Sacred Heart Church, Du Quoin, Illinois, but served a large area including Pinckneyville, DeSoto, DuBois, Radom, Centralia, Odin and Sandoval in addition to his parish duties. He was born at Marienmuenster, Germany on April 15, 1841, ordained at Montreal on June 21, 1868, and departed this life on Thursday, February 9, 1911 at his home in Du Quoin.

In the year 1871, a large area was divided into three districts of Pinckneyville, Du Quoin, and Todd's Mill. The first St. Bruno Catholic Church in Pinckneyville, a brick structure, was erected through the efforts of the parishioners and Reverend Charles Klocke in 1872. It had a seating capacity of 250 and cost $5,000. The steeple was built in 1911 at a cost of $3,000, and the sacristy and sanctuary were added later a cost of $1,000.

The original rectory was a one-story frame building. It was replaced in 1892 by a two-story brick building which was used until the present rectory was completed in 1965.

St. Bruno Parish has been fortunate to have had a school for its children almost from the beginning. The first school, built in 1887, had one classroom for sixty students. The nuns lived on the second floor. A two-room school was built in 1891. In 1940 it was moved across Gordon street and added to the Lehmanhouse, making a three-room school for over 100 students. Now the students have a two-story building dedicated in 1956. It has classrooms and a computer lab on the main floor. Each grade-level classroom now has its own computer. Kindergarten, library, cafeteria, offices, and the eighth grade class are in the basement. Pre-school is held at the Parish Center. The nuns are housed in a two-story convent attached to the school. The Adorers of the Blood of Christ Nuns have served St. Bruno's Parish since 1887.

The Parish Center, constructed in 1966, includes a gymnasium for physical education and a lounge for many activities.

The parish has a cemetery of six acres about one mile from the Church on Route 154 West. This property was purchased in 1873. Before that time the Parishioners were buried in the city cemetery.

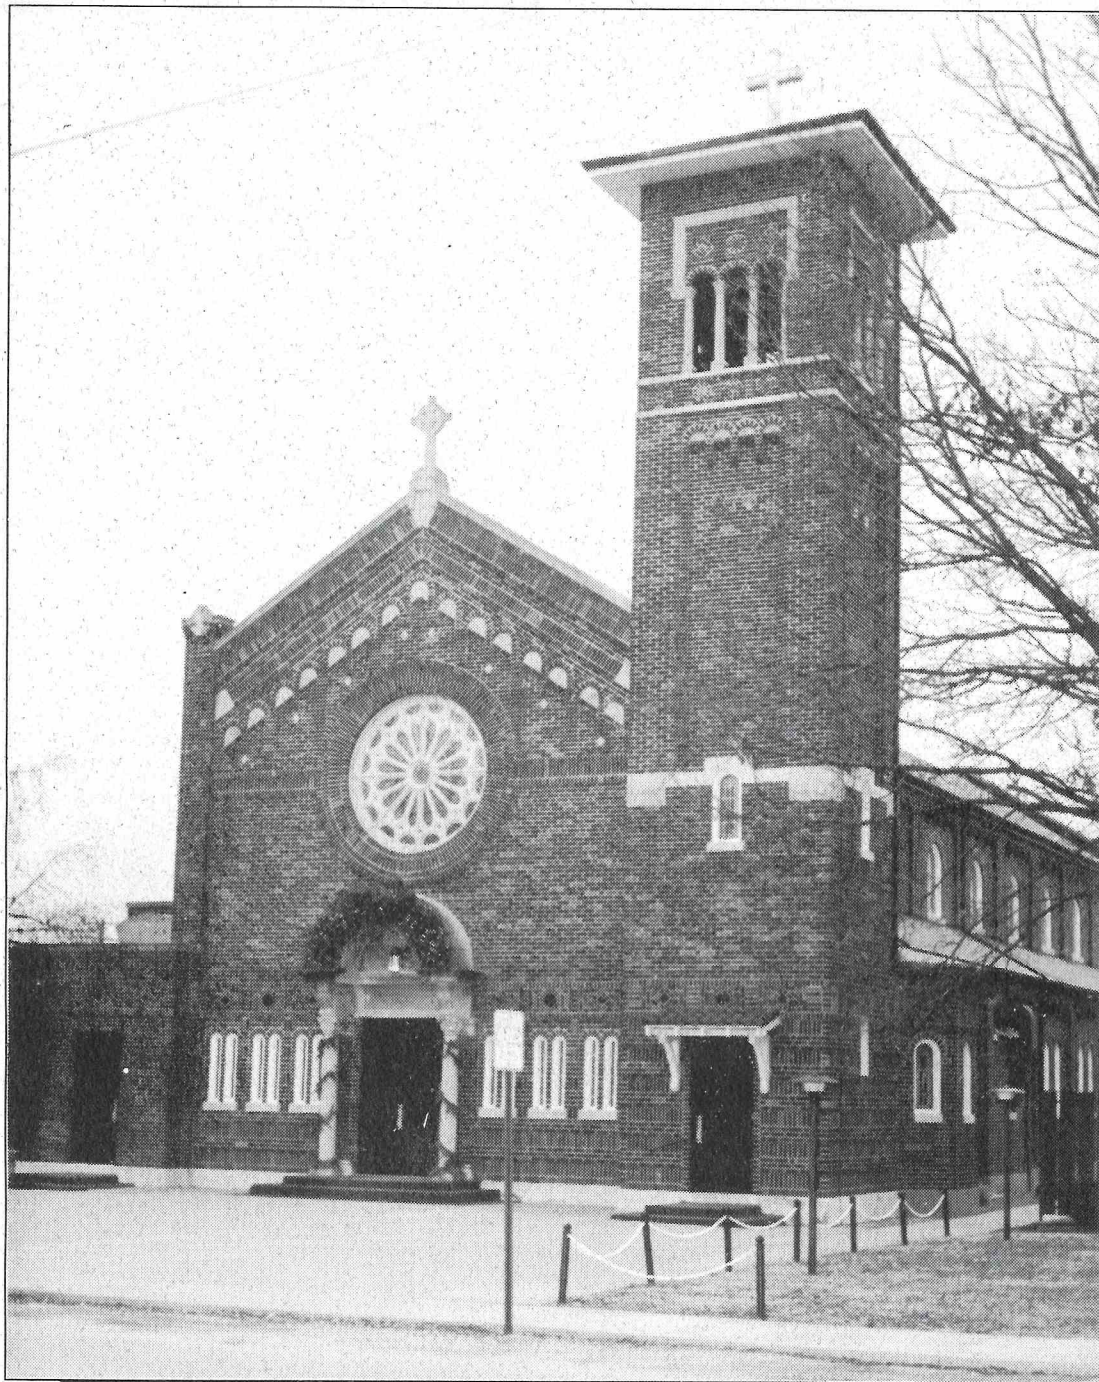

Pastors who have served St. Bruno Parish are: Rev. Charles Klocke of Du Quoin 1872-1878; Rev. L. Riesden (first resident pastor) 1878-1879; Rev. Charles Klocke 1879-1880; Rev. Henry Ader 1880-1883; Rev. William Krug 1883-1884; Rev. Joseph Schneider 1884-1917; Rev. Charles Strumpen 1917-1923; Rev. Joseph A. Munier 1923-1956; Rev. James Calhoun (assistant) 1955-1956; Rev. James McCormick 1956-1963; Rev. Glennon Sims 1963-1973; Rev. Timothy Foley 1973-1987; Rev. Eugene H. Wojcik 1987-1993; Rev. James Nall 1993-1996; Rev. John Venegoni 1996-

This calendar is a collaborative effort between Beaucoup Creek Chapter, NSDAR and The Perry County Historical Society.

Subsequently, calendars in this series will include a wide diversity of photos from numerous public and private sources.

We hope you enjoy these historical photos and the information provided for each month of 1998. We feel that this calendar serves as an interesting, yet functional keepsake to be enjoyed long after the year's end.

We also want to ask for your help and involvement.

Work will soon begin on the 1999 calendar. Please feel free to provide us with dates and years of significant, important church, civic, business, family, organization or club events.

If you have an interesting date, just send (typed or neatly printed) the full date and a description of the event which occurred on that date to:
